

The 1994 ban on assault weapons will expire on September 4, 2004. Those of us in Congress who support common-sense gun laws need your help to help ensure that this important law is reauthorized. On May 8, I joined with Senators Chuck Schumer, Lincoln Chafee, Barbara Boxer, Jim Jeffords, and Richard Durbin to introduce a bipartisan bill that would make the ban permanent and also close a loophole that has allowed millions of high-capacity ammunition magazines to be imported from overseas.

This legislation would do two simple things:

- First, it would permanently extend the ban on the manufacture of 19 types of common military style assault weapons and on an additional group of assault weapons that have been banned by characteristic for 8 years.
- Second, the legislation would close a loophole in the 1994 law, which prohibits the domestic manufacture of high-capacity ammunition magazines, but allows foreign companies to continue sending them to this country by the millions. A measure that would have closed this loophole passed the House and Senate in 1999 by wide margins, but got bottled up in a larger conference due to an unrelated provision.

I firmly believe that weapons designed for war have no place on the streets of a civilized society. We must enforce existing law and enact common sense measures to stop the proliferation of military-style assault weapons, while protecting the rights of law-abiding citizens who use guns for hunting, household defense, or legitimate recreational purposes.

This is critical if we are to make the streets of America safer. I urge you to learn more about this issue and get involved.

Sincerely,

Dianne Feinstein
United States Senator

REAUTHORIZING THE ASSAULT WEAPONS BAN

The Assault Weapons Ban Reauthorization strikes the sunset date from the 1994 law, thereby reauthorizing the ban indefinitely.

Without this change to current law, the assault weapons ban would expire on September 13, 2004. Consequently, all of the guns banned under the law could go back into immediate production. This is why Senator Feinstein has introduced legislation to extend the ban on:

- 19 specifically named weapons, like the Tec-9, AK-47, UZI, and others.
- All semi-automatic rifles that can accept a detachable magazine and have at least two listed features, including a pistol grip or thumbhole stock; folding stock or telescopic stock; flash suppressor or a threaded barrel capable of accepting a flash suppressor, bayonet mount, or grenade launcher.
- All semiautomatic pistols that can accept a detachable magazine and have at least two listed features, including an ammunition magazine that attaches outside of the pistol grip; a threaded barrel; a shroud that permits the shooter to hold the firearm with the nontrigger hand without being burned; or a manufactured weight of at least 50 ounces (unloaded).

This legislation also continues the protection of:

- 670 hunting and other recreational rifles;
- Any gun that is manually operated by a bolt, pump, lever or slide action;
- Any semi-automatic rifle or shotgun that cannot accept a detachable magazine that holds more than 5 rounds;
- Antique weapons;
- Use of semi-automatic assault weapons by police officers and other law enforcement officials.

STOPPING “COPYCAT” GUNS

All semi-automatic assault pistols and rifles with detachable magazines and 2 or more “assault” characteristics, as well as semi-automatic shotguns with 2 or more such characteristics, are also banned under this legislation.

Assault characteristics for each of these weapons are:

RIFLES

Folding/Telescoping Stock
Protruding Pistol Grip
Bayonet Mount
Threaded Muzzle or Flash Suppressor
Grenade Launcher

PISTOLS

Magazine Outside Grip
Threaded Muzzle
Barrel Shroud
Unloaded Weight of 50 Ounces or More
Semi-Automatic Version of Automatic Weapon

SHOTGUNS

Folding/ Telescoping Stock
Protruding Pistol Grip
Detachable Magazine Capability
Fixed Magazine Capacity Greater Than 5 Rounds

STOPPING IMPORT OF HIGH CAPACITY AMMUNITION MAGAZINES

The 1994 assault weapons legislation, prohibits the manufacture of semi-automatic assault weapons and high capacity ammunition clips. The intent of the bill was to dry up the existing supply of these big guns and the high capacity and deadly ammunition magazines or “clips” that they use.

The manufacture of high-capacity clips like these was banned by the 1994 legislation. The importation of these clips would be banned by Senator Feinstein's legislation.

47.3 million of these clips, some with up to 250 rounds of ammunition, were approved for import from 50 different nations.

Senator Feinstein introduced legislation to ban the import of these clips in the 106th Congressional session. The bill was passed by the Senate and House, but was held in a joint Conference Committee where it died at the end of the Congressional session.

The legislation that Senator Feinstein has introduced would close the loophole and prevent big clips from being imported into the United States.

But a loophole in that legislation allowed clips manufactured outside the United States to continue flowing into this country.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms (ATF) estimates that millions of high capacity magazines have been approved for importation since passage of the 1994 assault weapons legislation.

In just one twelve month period between 1999 and 2000, over

EXECUTIVE ORDER TO BAN IMPORT OF ASSAULT WEAPONS

On April 6, 1998, President Bill Clinton signed an executive order to ban the import of 59 different models of military style assault weapons at the urging of Senator Feinstein. The decision kept nearly 1.8 million modified assault rifles out of the United States.

In September of 1997, Senator Feinstein was joined by 29 of her colleagues in asking the President to use his executive authority to temporarily suspend the import of numbers of different military style weapons and direct the ATF to conduct a study to determine if the guns in question were, as the 1968 Gun Control Act demands, “generally recognized as particularly suitable for, or readily adaptable to, sporting purposes.”

President Clinton’s application of the 1968 Gun Control Act’s sporting purposes test is not a new approach. In 1984, ATF conducted a comprehensive analysis of the “sporting purposes” of rifle and shotguns. They looked at the legislative history, studied the available literature, made the technical evaluation of the weapons, conducted a wide-ranging comprehensive survey, and determined that there were clear differences between semi-automatic assault rifles and semi-automatic rifles used in traditional sports.

THE BUSH ADMINISTRATION SUPPORTS EXTENDING THE BAN

There are some who will say that the current law doesn't go far enough—and frankly Senator Feinstein agrees with them and believes that the ban should be made stronger.

Senator Feinstein introduced a simple extension of the 1994 legislation, however, because President Bush has said that he would support reauthorization and closing the clip importation loophole. This support can be seen in statements by Attorney General John Ashcroft and the President's spokesmen. For instance:

- In a response to a question from Senator Feinstein at his confirmation hearing, Attorney General John Ashcroft said that “it is my understanding that the President-elect of the United States has indicated his support for extending the assault weapon ban, and I will be pleased to support that as a policy of this President and as a policy of the Justice Department.”
- At his February 6, 2001 press briefing, Secretary Ari Fleischer said “...the President would also ban importation of high capacity ammunition clips.”
- And more recently, in April of this year, White House spokesman Scott McClellan said of the assault weapons ban, “The president supports the current law, and he supports reauthorization of the current law.”

It has become unclear in recent days, however, whether the President will truly put his energy behind re-authorizing the assault weapons ban, or whether he will simply allow Tom DeLay and the NRA to kill the bill before it ever gets to his desk.

Here's where you can help: Call President Bush and ask him to actively lobby in favor of reauthorization of the ban.

THE BAN MAKES SENSE

In the years following the enactment of the ban, crimes using assault weapons were reduced dramatically:

- In 1993, assault weapons accounted for 8.2 percent of all guns used in crimes;
- By the end of 1995, that proportion had fallen to 4.3 percent; and
- By November 1996, the last year statistics are available—the proportion had fallen to 3.2 percent.

But if we do not reauthorize the 1994 assault weapons ban this Congress, it will expire on September 13, 2004, and these reductions could be reversed.

This means that manufacturers could once again begin making AK-47s, TEC-9s, and other banned guns that have but one purpose - to kill other human beings.

Senator Feinstein believes that this would be a terrible mistake – with deadly consequences for thousands of Americans each year.
